Commentary

In April 2025, the CAL Advantage Unit Trust posted a return of 1.96%, bringing its year-to-date (YTD) performance to 12.11%. During the month, the Trust strategically increased exposure to bank securities offering competitive returns, as treasury yields declined sharply and took additional positions in listed equities. The portfolio outperformed its benchmark over the one- and three-month periods and remained closely aligned YTD, supported by gains in equities and strong fixed-income performance. Looking ahead, active management of the equity positions will continue with a focus on sectors poised for growth, such as financials and consumer staples. The fixed-income investments are also expected to continue delivering stable returns in the current lower-yield environment. The strategy remains centered on diversification and active management, which should position the scheme to better navigate changing market conditions and sustain consistent returns for unitholders.
